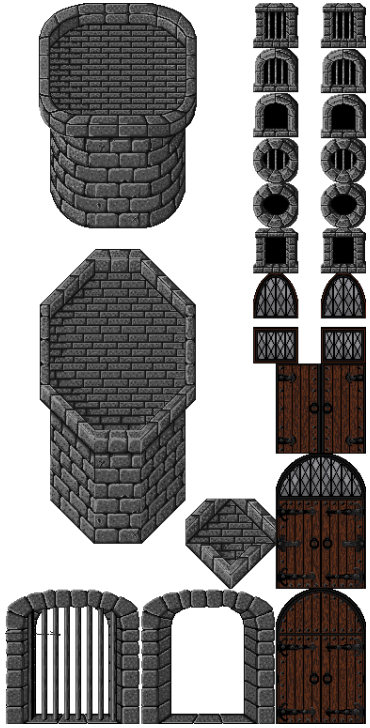
Announcing the Supporter Edition:

After doing a test run these past few months of a Paid Edition on eBay, we've decided to switch things up by going with a Patreon-geared Supporter Edition. We're shooting to have our Patreon page back up sometime this month, so be sure to check our social media for news on this.

July Free with Order Promo Card:

This month's featured xARTIST is Selestiart Studios!



Selestiart is a pixel artist that primarily develops artwork for retro-styled video game projects. Their work includes sprite sheets and tile sets that are available for game developers to use in their projects. Be sure to check them out!

Visit them online on X: @Selestiart202

Please note that we distribute the Expeditions Gazette freely with any eBay store purchase, and digitally through our social media platforms. We will be adding a Patreon Supporter Edition this month with special limited, serial numbered parallels of the Base Version of each month's xARTIST Card.

Featured Mini-Article: One of Ones

One of the more controversial collectibles in the hobby is the coveted One-of-One card. While occasionally truly unique like the sketch card above, most of this class of collectible consists of a variety of parallels of an original, more widely available, card.

First appearing on the scene as parallel sub-sets in the mid 1990s, early One-of-One cards mostly consisted of printing plates like the Hockey and Baseball cards to the left. While printing plate cards continue to be included today, such as the Haskins booklet plate card above, there has been much more variety as the hobby has matured.

Along with the earlier mentioned sketch cards, a number of parallel One-of-One sets exist, and even a few where only one exists of every card in a sub-set. Ultimately, whether you love 'em or hate 'em, the One-of-One card looks to be a mainstay in the hobby for the foreseeable future.

The Collectosaurus Project News

The quest to evolve to the next step of our project's development continues!

This past month we worked lights out to get as many inventory scans done as possible and even went so far to do a complete count of our singles to give collectors and/or sellers a better idea of what we've got on-hand. We will be continuing to update regularly with more info on this awesome opportunity throughout the month and will be splitting the lot up if it doesn't sell sometime between the 15th and 31st of July – keep an eye on our social media for more info on that.

The proceeds from this sale will be going towards getting the equipment we need to improve our printing ability and get the webspace/time needed to build our website. Scans created during the sale process will be stored for use on the website as well, so if you are interested in the lot and our website project reach out to us for some additional distribution options that include original scan data for easy relisting.
